

Dr. Hope Landrine

July 4, 1954 - September 3, 2019

Dr. Hope Landrine was born in Yonkers, NY on July 4, 1954, to John Albert Landrine and Sarah Alice Palmer. She passed away in Greenville, NC on Sept 3, 2019 after a brief illness.

Dr. Landrine retired from East Carolina University last year, where she was the director of the Center for Health Disparities, and professor of psychology and professor of public health in the Brody School of Medicine. She earned her bachelor's degree in psychology from Westminster College and her doctorate in clinical psychology from the University of Rhode Island. She completed a postdoctoral fellowship in social psychology at Stanford University, and a National Cancer Institute Postdoctoral Fellowship in Cancer Prevention and Control at the University of Southern California School of Medicine. Prior to her positions at East Carolina University, she was the director of multicultural health behavior research at the American Cancer Society.

A prolific scientist, Dr. Landrine published more than 125 articles and books. She dedicated her career to understanding the health and social conditions of African-Americans and other ethnic minority populations. She earned many notable honors for her life's work, including fellow status in the American Psychological Association Divisions 9, 45, 38, 35, and 50 for her outstanding contributions to research on social issues, racial-ethnic minorities, health, women and substance use/addictions. She also was awarded fellow status in the Society of Behavioral Medicine. In 2012, she was honored with the APA Div. 45 Lifetime Achievement Award for Distinguished Lifetime Contributions to research on racial-ethnic Minorities. In 2019, she was awarded the James M. Jones Lifetime Achievement Award for her exceptional contributions to the understanding of racial and ethnic psychology.

Hope was a dedicated spouse, sister, aunt, mentor and surrogate mother to so many. She will be deeply missed by all who were touched with her brilliance, her generosity and giving spirit, and her tireless efforts to fight for justice and equality.

Dr. Landrine was preceded in death by her parents and her sister Felicia Landrine.

Dr. Landrine is survived by her family: Irma Corral, Faith Landrine, John Landrine, Caryl Fullwood, and Craig Landrine; her nieces and nephews and other extended family; and her most beloved kitty, Tifi.

“ I am deeply saddened to learn of Hope's death, and cannot think of her as anything but the intensely alive and totally riveting person I knew when she was a graduate student at the University of Rhode Island. I vividly remember her unabashed, philosophically grounded, and utterly compelling arguments for her positions on the issues with which my personality theory graduate course dealt. I and the other students in this relatively demanding graduate course were greatly benefitted by the way in which she raised the level in every discussion. From that experience I formed a longer-term connection as she worked her way through the graduate program and went on from there -- always intensely her own person, and very special to me and I am sure to all who encountered her iconoclastic wit and wisdom.

“ My thoughts and prayers are with Dr. Landrine’s loved ones. I just learned of her passing. She was instrumental in guiding me to my future career as a clinical psychologist. We met when I was working on my M.A. at California State University, San Bdn.,CA.,1988. She was an amazing professor and mentor to many. May she Rest In Peace!

“ Hope was my sister-in-law. She was easy to talk to and very intelligent but her humor topped it all. When my husband and I used to visit her, she always had us laughing from the first of the visit until the end of the visit. Hope touched a lot of lives and I know that she will be missed by many. My condolences and prayers from my heart to to theirs. May Hope Rest In Peace and may God continue to bless her family.

“ Hope was a great mentor! She provided the guidance and constructive feedback ("tough love") I needed to be successful at ECU and as a researcher. I will always be grateful to her for the opportunities she afforded me and will miss her greatly!

My sincere condolences to Hope's loved ones. I pray you that you continue to find strength during these trying times. Hope will be missed by many.
