

Deacon Joseph "The Maestro" Moore

October 5, 1934 - July 31, 2012

Deacon Joseph Moore, ask, "The Maestro", was born on October 5, 1934 to Willie and Hattie B. Moore. he was called to glory on Tuesday, July 31, 2012. At the age of nine, he began strumming his guitar, venturing out singing and playing gospel music. He sometimes had to stand on a chair or stool in order to be seen by an audience. With the help of his mom and dad and other friends, he made his way from church to church, from hall to hall, and from city to city. Some years later he began playing the piano. It was during those years that he began to develop a sincere feeling in singing and playing, rendering music from the soul to his listeners.

The Maestro was known fro his musical mastery. From 1960 to 1967 he lived in Chicago, Illinois where he met and worked on shows with: the Staple Singers, the Emotions (Hutchinson Sunbeams), Otis Clay, Sidney Ordower and others.
