“ *My prayers go out to you all. Snackie was a treasure to be hold no matter the circumstances ehe could make you laugh. She was a true Monarch she cared for her husband and her mother with a passion and great desires of heart. I have not met many people in life as honest and meaningful as Snackie. “ Snakie was one of my besties. We go way back to the neighborhood of Terra Ceia. Running to her home to visit with my uncle Mack and Auntie Drib. Snakie eating her scrambled egg on white bread and her Pepsi Cola. Working at National Spinning. Getting her to do my hair on Hundell Street in Washington and then in Belhaven. Snackie had the only transportation in those days. Her dad's truck. She would load up the girls Eva, Jennette, Myra, Vonda, Elaine, Diane, Neater, and yours truly headed to Pantego, Belhaven, and Acre Station. Yes, we road in the back of the truck. Never thought we would end up in Terra Ceia again. We talked everyday and spent time together sharing many things. She would always offer me a cold Pepsi, Hershey Bar with Almonds and a ice cream sandwich. During the holidays she would always tell me not to forget her sweet potato pie and a slice of Pineapple Philadelphia Cream Cheese Cake. In the days before she got ill, we spent time talking with Essie, Vernell, Annie, and Jackie just to name a few. I would always tell Snackie "Girl You Are Crazy". Annie says it best, "There is no place like Terra Ceia, Terra Ceia". I will miss you Snackie. There is a lonely spot in my heart. ❤️❤️❤️❤️

“ To the Family of Sandra Holloway (Snackie):

Please know that Sandra was an unrelenting bright light that radiated sunshine during times of darkness or any other state of being. Her smile epitomized optimism and her voice was one of uplift and echoed a resounding belief system that during times of trials and tribulation that "This too shall pass!" There was no greater earthly treasure for her than that of family. As such, her children (and grandchildren) were her most valued possession and she was unapologetic per her love and will to protect them.

She was gifted with wisdom; therefore, she kept her circle of friends small. Nevertheless, she enthusiastically welcomed opportunities to help others without any hidden agenda and didn't need a marching band or loud horns to announce what she had done. She gave genuinely from her heart!

Sandra "Snackie" leaves a mighty void and it is difficult to fill. As the noted song writer suggests, "May the Work She's Done Speak for Her!" American society has lost a terribly rare and genuine gem; our hearts mourn the loss.

With sincere sadness,

Henry Johnson, Ph.D.

As I look back on the times I would see Snackie out in public, she would end our conversation with I go to go now to check on my husband, ma, childrens, sister or auntie. I would tell her to alow down and she would smile and say I'll see you later. Now I realize she has fullfill what God had given her to do. Snackie has ran her race and ran it well, now she's resting in the arms of Jesus.
