“ Monique this is a hard pill to swallow. You know how sometimes when you take a pill and how it gets launched in your throat and don't wanna seem to go down well that's how I feel since I got the news I'm so glad I visited you and so glad we grew up together but now I'm lost with words but I seem to feel the love we both shared in the same household! My condolences are with the family and my heart will always bleed for you! You are such a beautiful person inside and out and I hope the love of God transforms you into his own image and that your soul will peacefully rest in his bosom. I luv u Monique! Love Aunt Bet!

“ Back when my daughter was younger I had taken her to the movies one Saturday and while getting our refreshments I found that I needed a dime to get everything we had ordered. The person behind the counter was not offering to let us have what we ordered without that dime so I was getting ready to tell them to take something off the order when someone tapped me on my back. I turned to see a smile I had seen at work for a while but did not know of the name of the beautiful young lady that it belonged to. She said here Ms Gloria, here's a dime and I said Thank You so much and I'll pay you back soon and she said "Oh, don't you worry about that". I soon found out her name, Shanessa and from that time on every time I would see her at work we would just smile at each other and at times speak. About a year ago she got a new role at work and our offices were in the same area so I got to know so much about her and what an amazing lady she really is. She spoke so lovely of her family, especially her kids and how proud she is of them. May your memories of her make your loss easier. Our thoughts and prayers are with you all and will continue into the future.
