“ Wali,

A kind and gentle soul. He was man of great strength and fortitude. He stood strong in his convictions and was always unwavering in all that he did. His insight, his love and wisdom was a blessing to me as my uncles and grandparents have passed on. Hence, he became a surrogate uncle and grandfather all in one. I will miss calling and talking to him. I will miss his laugh and him calling me “JoJo”. Most of all, I will miss his presence in the years ahead. He took care of his house and home, his loving wife Ovella, his family and never missed a beat. Though his physical strength may have left him in the end, he still soars even now like a giant in my heart and forever will be in my life.
